THE PREPARATION OF THIS BOOK

has covered a time of three years and at a cost of $200.00 to secure the information herein contained. Many to whom letters were addressed for information never replied making some family classifications difficult and imperfect.

Family histories, covering such a length of time, are very tedious, requiring much work in correctly distinguishing family lines.

The writer believes every Barwick should contribute one or more books in order to aid in the actual expense of producing this work.

The recompense for services in preparing this book is nothing, excepting good will from those receiving benefit and information from its pages.
